

The image is a topographic map showing a section of a mountain range. A purple-shaded area, representing a training ban, runs along a valley floor. The map includes labels for several locations: Siezenheim at the top, Feldkirchen (435) in the middle-left, Saalachau below it, and Wälsersfeld at the bottom. To the right, Pointing is also labeled. A red line, likely a railway, runs parallel to the purple area. A central purple box contains text in German. The map also shows various contour lines, roads, and buildings.
